13	Avg	17

In 2001's first round, the underclass players averaged out as the 17th pick (and had they been measured at the median, the number would have fallen to 21). This chart vividly shows the huge difference in Average Per Year and Average Signing Bonus between first rounds selected in the top half of the round and those--such as the majority of the 2001 underclass players--who were picked later in the round.
